During the meadow blossom in June and the beginning of July, Lech shines in vibrant colors: lots of pink, lots of green, a summery sea of colors. Perfect for a nice walk.

The 4th edition of the literary event revolves around Vladimir Nabokov's „Lolita“ – a controversial, highly sophisticated literary story.

The Literaricum pursues a broad concept of literature and appeals to people with an affinity for culture from near and far. Prominent Austrian authors and cultural scientists, such as Michael Köhlmeier, are responsible for the program selection of the literature festival.

REFRESHING

For the more adventurous, take a dip in one of the crystal-clear mountain lakes around Lech. Alternatively, you can simply cool your feet in the water and relax with a good book on the shore while you give your soul a break.

WALKING ALONG THE LECHWEG

The Lech river invites me to cool my paws and look for nimble fish. I explore the banks with my tail wagging, feeling free and alive! Every new step is an adventure, every scent a story.

17.9.– Philosophicum Lech

22.9.

The burning questions of our time, exciting panel discussions and inspiring lectures: This is what makes the Philosophicum Lech a meeting place for renowned experts in philosophy and culture as well as an enthusiastically inquisitive audience.

This year's motto is „Grit in the gears. A philosophy of disruption.“ Nobody likes disruption. And yet disruptive moments are not only part of life, but have often helped society to progress productively.
